Dec. 24, 1928.

Mr. & Mrs. J. J. Collier,
Donna, Texas.

My dear Cousins:

We certainly do thank you for the box of beautiful Texas grape fruit received this morning. They are beautiful in size, and when I get them from the office up home I know my people will enjoy them. The Texas grape fruit is far superior to what we have in Florida in flavor and appears to carry longer. I assume that your climate is dryer than we have down in Florida.

I trust that each and all of you are well.

Durward and his family are spending the week in their home. They now live at Athens, Georgia, but he still maintains his residence at Barnesville, keeping it furnished. In other words, they have two homes, one in Athens and one at Barnesville.

With usual kind regards, I beg to remain

Yours most cordially and sincerely,

JCC:S
